Summary in Your Language

Your active spoken English is at the B2.1 level. This means you can communicate fluently in most situations, but prepositions and tense selection remain unstable under pressure. Your passive comprehension is higher at B2.2.

Top Problems:

- Verb-dependent prepositions (depend of -> depend on)
- Present perfect used with specific past time markers
- Article omission with singular countable nouns
- Adjective order influenced by Spanish syntax
- Spanish false friends (actually, realize, etc.)

Key Recommendation:

Practice the Preposition Engine daily: form 5 sentences with verb + preposition combinations and say them out loud. This single exercise will correct your biggest structural weakness.

Next Steps:

Focus on verb + preposition combinations for the next 2 weeks, then move on to tense selection and false friends. Schedule a reassessment in 3 months to measure progress.
